Event Packages

Photo and video together, more affordable than booking separately

Prefer photo and video bundled, rather than booking separate parts? Our event packages combine photography and video production into one clear price, more affordable than booking everything separately.

From a compact package with atmosphere photos and a short video, to the most complete package with lots of photos, two videos and dozens of interviews: there's a fitting variant for every event.

Practical

- Each package is a fixed combination of photography and video, matched to the duration of your event.
- Extra: the Sponsor package (from €375, only available combined with an event package) adds dedicated sponsor photos and video.

People capture people

Eventshoot.nl doesn't use AI-generated video or stock footage. Everything you receive is genuinely captured at your event, with real people and professional equipment. For post-production, such as selection, transcription and subtitling, we increasingly use AI.

What you get

- A complete content box with photos, aftermovies and interviews, all ready to publish.
- In the right formats: horizontal for your website, 4:5 for LinkedIn and/or vertical.
- Files your marketer can use right away, no extra post-production and so no more reformatting.
- Months of visibility from a single production day, your event keeps working after the room empties.

Who it's for

An event package works best when your organisation has someone who also rolls out the content, such as a marketer, communications officer or social media manager. We produce, they publish. Our ideal clients:

- Trade associations with an annual congress, member day or industry day.
- Event agencies and DMCs looking for a steady content partner for their client events.
- Hotels with conference facilities building preferred-vendor relationships with their guests.
- Marketing and communications agencies that like to outsource production to a specialist.
- Companies with their own annual knowledge events or user conferences.
